

Bob McKean

---

From:

Sent:

Thursday, December 13, 2018 1:10 PM

To:

Subject:

Do not panic

Hello. My man hid a bomb (Hexogen) in the building where your company is located. My recruited person constructed a bomb under my direction. It can be hidden anywhere because of its small size, it is impossible to destroy the supporting building structure by my bomb, but there will be many wounded people in case of its explosion.

My recruited person keeps the territory under the control. If any unusual behavior, panic or policeman is noticed he will power the bomb.

I would like to propose you a bargain. 20'000 usd is the price for your safety. Pay it to me in BTC and I ensure that I have to withdraw my man and the device won't explode. But do not try to fool me- my assurance will become valid only after 3 confirms in blockchain network.

My payment details (BTC address):

You must solve problems with the transaction by the end of the workday. If the working day is over and people start leaving the building the device will detonate.

Nothing personal this is just a business, if I do not receive the money and an explosive device explodes, next time other companies will transfer me more bitcoins, because this is not a single case.

For my safety, I won't enter this email. I monitor my wallet every 35 minutes and if I see the money I will order my mercenary to leave your area.

If a bomb explodes and the authorities notice this letter!

We are not terrorists and don't take any responsibility for explosions in other buildings.